Your Homework

This is how I get the real picture of your life, food and training, so please don't skip it.

The plan: log for 3 days (Day 1, 2, 3). On Day 4, email everything back to me at joemillslagle@gmail.com with the subject line PREP. Once I have it, we'll book your call and I'll build your plan.

What you're sending me

1. 3-day weighed food and drink log
2. Daily steps
3. Training log (exercises, sets, reps, load)
4. Current compounds and doses (only if they apply)
5. Your last bloodwork (PDF or photo)
6. Photos: front and back (required), side (recommended)

How to log your food and drink

- Use a food scale. Weigh in grams. For drinks, write ounces or ml.
- Weigh and write it down as you go. Not tonight from memory.
- Raw or cooked? Put R or C in the last column.
- Write down EVERYTHING:
- meals and snacks, even bites and tastes
- drinks: coffee, juice, soda, alcohol, shakes, and how much water

- condiments: sauces, dressings, oils, butter, creamer, sugar
- supplements: vitamins, protein, creatine, pre-workout, everything
- Eat like you normally eat. Don't clean it up. An honest log beats a perfect one.
- Missed weighing something? Write "estimate" and your best guess.

How to track steps and training

- Steps: write your total at the end of each day. Your phone's health app is fine.
- Training: log every exercise you do, with sets, reps and the weight. No workout? Write REST.

List everything you're taking now, or write natural.

5. Last bloodwork

Attach the full results as a PDF or photo. If it's older than 12 weeks, still send it and tell me the date.
